BRIEF MENTIONINGS.

Events in and About the City Given in a Nutshell.

The plate department at the La Belle of scarcity of steel.

A young son of Fred Strohman, of South Market street, was bitten by a horse Wednesday evening. The wound, while painful, is not serious.

A set of harness was stolen from the stable at "Uplands," the Paxton family len Braddock, on Eoff street, below

Twenty-seventh, is almost completed and will lend ornament to the architectural beauty of that part of the city.

Through an error in this paper yesterday it was stated that the hearing of Virginia Wesley, charged with a breach of the peace, would be heard before Justice Fitzpatrick Monday, when it should have been Justice Dunning.

The International Correspondence

Schools, of Scranton, Pa., have an exhibit of some of their work at the store of Hugo L. Loos that is attracting a great amount of attention. The exhibit is in charge of W. H. Sweeney, the local representative of the schools.

For the accommodation of people living up town, the O. W. L. club has placed tickets for its outing, which takes place at Mozart Park next Tuesday afternoon and evening, on sale at Goetz's drug store and Hannan's cigar store. By securing tickets in advance the rush at the incline ticket office will be avoided.

FOR THE EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

Yesterday—The Attorneys of Cotts Will Take the Case to the Supreme Court.

The attorneys of W. J. Cotts, recently convicted on the charge of forging the name of his dead friend, John Haberfeld, and sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary, are having the record of the trial in the Marshall county circuit court copied, with the intention of taking up their new trial motion to the supreme court of appeals—notwithstanding this, the three daughters of Mr. Cotts are making an attempt along another line to effect the release of their father from confinement.

Mrs. Jessie Cotts Henlein, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Ratcliffe and Miss Cotts, of Wheeling, all daughters of the convicted forger, yesterday began the circulation in the business district of petitions, calling upon Governor Atkinson to exercise the executive clemency in favor of their father. Mrs. Henlein had nearly a hundred names on her petition yesterday afternoon, and the others are said to have secured as many.

For the defense Congressman Dovenor and Sam O. Eoyce will make the arguments.
